Description of the Organisation

Universidad Femenina del Sagrado Corazón, also known as UNIFÉ, is an educational institution that since its foundation has distinguished itself for its commitment to comprehensive education of women. With more than six decades of experience, UNIFÉ has consolidated its position as a reference in women's higher education in Latin America by promoting values, academic excellence and leadership in all its programs.

Our Mission and Vision

UNIFÉ's mission is to educate women leaders who have a positive impact on society through the integration of a solid academic formation with ethical and humanistic principles.

Our vision is to be a university recognized internationally for its educational quality, high impact research and commitment to sustainable development.

Academic Courses

UNIFÉ offers a wide range of academic programs, including bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees. Among its main faculties are those of Education, Business Sciences, Law, Engineering and Humanities. These programs are designed to prepare students for the challenges of a globalized world, ensuring that each graduate is competitive in her professional field.

Recognitions and Accreditations

The university has received various national and international certifications that endorse its commitment to educational quality. In particular, UNIFÉ is part of academic networks such as the Organization of Catholic Universities of Latin America and the Caribbean (ODUCAL), which reinforces its active participation in global initiatives.

International Contribution

Internationalization is a fundamental axis for UNIFÉ. Through agreements with universities in different countries, our students have the opportunity to participate in academic mobility programs. Likewise, the university leads projects linked to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), standing out in areas such as quality education, gender equality and climate action.

Research and Development

UNIFÉ promotes the generation of knowledge through its lines of research in education, technology, health and social development. Its academic community contributes with publications in indexed journals and innovative projects that respond to the needs of the global context. The university also has a modern technological infrastructure and bibliographic resources that strengthen its research capacity.

University Life and Community

At UNIFÉ, the university experience goes beyond the classroom. Through cultural, sports and social activities, students develop soft skills and strengthen their sense of community. In addition, the university carries out social responsibility projects that benefit vulnerable populations, demonstrating its commitment to human and sustainable development.

Impact and Achievements

UNIFÉ's excellence in its 62 years of creation is reflected in the achievements of its graduates, who successfully perform in business, academic and social fields, both nationally and internationally, evidencing its competitiveness and relevance in the educational landscape. UNIFÉ reaffirms its commitment to the formation of upright women and the construction of a fairer and more equitable world.
